Sharpen Your Skills in Stockmanship: A Two-Day Workshop at Leo Ranch

Following our last workshop on an introduction to effective livestock handling, Cattle Up—led by Dawn Hnатов, Holistic Management International, and Dixon Water Foundation—are back with a follow-up event designed to deepen your understanding and skills.

Building on the philosophy and techniques of Bud and Eunice Williams, this follow-on workshop will offer next level insights and hands-on practice to help livestock producers further refine their livestock handling capabilities.

One of their core beliefs is that when livestock is handled properly, animals will develop trust and respect (not fear) which translates into a wide variety of positive results including better weight gain, less sickness, easy gatherings, efficient corral work and happier handlers.

$400 (includes lunch both days)
Don't let the cost deter you from attending.
We have partial scholarships available for this program!
